description

This is for green riders and or green horses that are just starting off in Natural Horsemanship.

The course material covers a ground skills section aimed at helping course participants develop simple skills that will help to develop a horse's self-confidence and respect to improve ridden issues and your own overall safety with horses. The ridden component of the course will give course participants a skill set and an understanding of horses that will help to resolve issues from saddling and mounting to riding at different gaits. This course will mostly be a morning ground skills session and ridden in the afternoon.
